He (Mr. Sherman) ad never done anything to promote the terest of Jay Cooke, although a personal iend.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Senate funding bill was reported, with amendments, from the Ways and Means Committee, and was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The credentials of four Representatives of Alabama were referred to the Election Committee.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the funding bill.

The Committee rising informally, the House received a message from the Senate with the amendments to the Indian appropriation bill. These were non-concurred in, and a Committee of Conference, Messrs. Butler, Windom and Brooks, appointed.

The consideration of the Funding bill was resumed in Committee.

The first amendment was agreed to, with the modification that the bonds shall be in denominations of fifty dollars, or some multiple thereof.

Mr. ROSS moved to amend the second amendment by reducing the rate of interest to three per cent. Rejected.

Mr. HUBBARD, of West Virginia, moved to amend the portion proposed to be struck out by providing a class of fifty year bonds at 3 65-100 per cent., thus making four classes of bonds. This was agreed to.

Mr. PIKE moved to amend by making the interest on all bonds 4 per cent., instead of 3 65-100.

During the discussion, Mr. STEVENS, who advocated four per cent. as the lowest rate of interest, said he had understood the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Ross) to say that the bonds should be paid according to the New York platform. What was that platform?

Mr. ROSS—To pay the five-twenties in lawful money.

Mr. STEVENS—What do you call lawful money?

Mr. ROSS—Greenbacks; that is your doctrine and mine, you know. [Laughter.]

Mr. STEVENS—I hold to the Chicago platform, and as I understand it on that point, those bonds shall be paid just according to the origiual contract.

A member—The law.

Mr. STEVENS—According to the law.

Mr. PIKE—The spirit and letter of the contract.

Mr. STEVENS—What was the law? That the interest should be paid up to a certain time at six per cent. in coin. After the bonds fell due it would be payable in money, just as the gentleman from Illinois understood—just as he (Mr. Stevens understood it—just as well understood it when the law was enacted—just as it was explained on the floor a dozen times by the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means. If he knew that any party in the country would go for paying in coin that which was payable in currency, thus enhancing the debt one-half—if he knew there was such a platform and such determination on the part of his own party, he would, with Frank Blair and all, vote for the other party. He would vote for no such swindle on the tax payers of the country. He would not vote for such speculation in favor of the large bondholders and millionaires. He repeated, though it was hard to say it, even if Frank Blair stood on the platform of paying according to the contract, and if the Republican candidate stood on the platform of paying bloated speculaters twice the amount agreed to be paid them, and of taxing his constituents to death, he would vote for Frank Blair—even if a worse man than Seymour was on the ticket, he added. (Much excitement and sensation.)

Mr. ROSS—The Democratic doors are still open and the gentleman can be taken in.

Mr. O'NEILL moved to fix the interest at four and a half per cent. Rejected.

Mr. PIKE'S amendment was also rejected.

Mr. PILE moved to make the term of the bonds sixty years. Rejected.

After further discussion a vote was taken on the first amendment of the Committee on Ways and Means, making but one class of bonds to run forty years at three and sixty-five hundreths per cent., and it was agreed to.

Mr. PIKE moved to amend the provision about exempting from taxation, making it read, "and the interest thereon and income therefrom, shall be exempt from payment of all taxes or duties to the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal or local authority."

Mr. NIBLACK moved to amend by striking out the exemption from taxation and inserting, "which said bonds shall be liable to taxation by or under State, municipal or local authority to the same extent as money is taxed, under such State, municipal or local authority, and no greater."

Without disposing of this amendment the Committee rose.

The credentials of Representatives elect from Louisiana, and the action of that State in ratifying the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution, were referred to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. SCHENCK moved an Evening Session to go on with the funding bill. Agreed to.

Mr. MYERS moved, if the funding bill be disposed of to-night, the Committee will then go on with the tariff bill. Negatived.

A recess was then taken.

Evening Session.—The House, in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the funding bill.

The amendments reported by the Committee of Ways and Means to the second section, merely verbal, were agreed to.

A discussion arose on the section proposed to be inserted instead of the third section, legalizing contracts payable in gold, which authorizes the conversion of United States notes into bonds for an equal amount of United States notes, unless the United States notes then outstanding shall amount to $400,000,000.

Mr. BROOMALL moved to reduce the amount to $336,000,000, being the amount now in circulation.

The section and amendment were debated by Messrs. Broomall, Pike, Garfield, Schenck, Boutwell, Hooper, Lynch, Butler, (of Mass.,) Logan, Ingersoll, Allison and others.

Finally the debate was closed, and Mr. INGERSOLL moved to strike out the provision as to the limit of United States notes. Rejected.

Mr. COBURN moved to strike out the clause allowing conversion of United States notes into bonds. Rejected.

Mr. INGERSOLL moved increased limitation from $300,000,000 to $355,000,000.

Various other amendments were offered and rejected.

Finally a vote was taken on inserting the section as reported by the Committee on Ways and Means in place of section three, and the amendment was rejected—forty to sixty-two.

The second amendment was to strike out the third section legalizing contracts in coin. It was debated by Messrs. Axtell, Logan, Eldridge, Cavanaugh, Higbee, Boyden, Coburn, Hubbard, (W. Va.,) and others.

Mr. CAVANAUGH moved to legalize contracts payable in gold dust, and advoted that proposition. Rejected.

Mr. COBURN took the ground that the proposition would be disastrous and result in general bankruptcy and ruin, as all the notes would hereafter be made payable in gold and cause gold to rise fifty per cent.

Mr. HUBBARD, of West Virginia, moved to amend the section by providing that gold contracts may be paid in legal tenders at the rate of gold in the New York market on the day the contract matures. Rejected.

Some other amendments were agreed to, but finally the whole section was struck out.

The Committee rose and the House adjourned.

LONDON, July 17.—In the House of Commons last night, Mr. Mill asked the Government what disposition was to be made of the Fenian prisoners Warren and Costello, who were arrested after effecting a landing in Ireland with the alleged purpose of exciting an insurrection, and whether the Government intended to mitigate the sentences of those Fenians who had already been tried and convicted. The Lord Mayor replied that there were no peculiar features in the cases of Warren and Costello which would lead the government to depart from the usual course of law. Some delay had been caused in the proceedings owing to the necessity of procuring evidence from the United States to show that the accused were closely connected with the Fenian organization in that country. In reply to the second part of the question, the Lord Mayor said the time had not come for the revision of the cases of those Fenian convicts now filling out the terms of their sentences.

Gen. Howard submitted a partial report of the Joint Committee of Investigation on the ordnance department. It embodies some more important points of testimony, a vast mass of which is submitted and will be printed. The report charges Gen. Dyer with being corruptly interested in contracts for supplying ordnance, and gives the evidence of the late ex-Gov. Ford, who was attorney for a certain kind of shells, called the Amsterdam projectile, and who was one of the owners of it, to effect that Dyer, upon having his claim to a share of the profits, about thirteen per cent., recognized, awarded a contract to them for twenty thousand of these projectiles for army use. From Mr. Ford's evidence it appears that though he and the other parties claimed to own this shell, and General Dyer set up a claim as its inventor, it had never been patented, was not different from other projectiles already in use, and there was nothing which could be subject to ownership or division except the profits to be derived from a corrupt letting of the contract. Mrs. A. C. Dickson, wife of one of these contractors, who was present at some of the interviews with Dyer, testifies to the same facts. It is also proved that a company was organized in New York to raise $9,700 in strength to this arrangement with General Dyer. The Committee charge Gen. Dyer with making numerous and costly experiments with arms and projectiles since the war, with a view to his private emolument; with neglecting and misrepresenting useful inventions, and with mutilating and destroying the records of his department and the different arsenals to conceal his operations. They submit, in conclusion, the following:

Resolved, by the Senate of the United States, the House of Representatives concurring, That the President be respectfully requested to remove Brevet Major General A. B. Dyer from position as Chief of Ordnance of the War Department.

LOCHABER NO MORE.

The following lines, recently quoted at a Highland Society dinner in London, are ascribed to Dr. Charles Mackay:

Farewell to Lochaber! Farewell to the glens,
To the streams and the corries, the straths and the Bens;
Farewell, oh farewell to thy beautiful shore,
We'll maybe return to Lochaber no more.
No long'r mounts upward the smoke of our fires,
No longer or us are the homes of our sires,
No bread for the winning comes in at the door,
Lochaber! Lochaber! farewell evermore!

In the days that are gone, in the old happy time,
Brave men were the glory and wealth of the clime,
But the groun e and the deer need the keelyards of yore,
And we'll maybe return to Lochaber no mo e.
Right gladly we'd cling t thee, land of our birth!
And fight for thee! die for thee, pride of th Earth!
But men without hope are as drift on the shore,
Lochaber! Lochaber! farewell evermore!

Farewell to Lochaber, its cloud-covered Bens,
Its clear, wimplin' burnies, its bonnie green glens,
The holy, the desolate, be uty thine e—
We return, we return, to Lochaber no more.
Farewell, oh farewell! and wherever we roam,
Thy name shall be symbol and watchword of home,
The echo of joys that no time shall restore,
Lost! lost! with Lochaber! lost! lost! evermore.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE.

A Story of Life in Ludlow, Mass.

On the wide, sandy plain which stretches its weary monotony between the crowded manufacturing villages of Chicopee river and the quiet villages of Granby and South Hadley, stands a lonely house ten rods from a lonely road. It is of two stories and an L, though the single room in this last is the only room that is inhabitable. The two-story part, now a ruin, has never been more than a shell. A quarter of a century ago Shubael Jones put it up, planted a little orchard around it, and brought to it a black-eyed, high-tempered wife. But he was at that time an incipient drunkard, and soon every appearance of comfort and domestic happiness fled the place. And one dismal November night the wretched wife summoned her neighbors from their beds to go where the poor sot lay dead at the foot of the cellar stairs. No inquest was held, none doubted that he was killed by a fall in a drunken fit in attempting another visit to his cider barrel.

The widow rented the place to a tenant who neither kept it well nor paid its rent. She went with her little boy, who was not quite an idiot, to work in the paper mill at the village, then called "Shipmuck." For long years she changed from factory to factory, as best she could keep her son employed. He was always harmless and still. He was always obedient when under his mother's eye and working at her side, but the prudent people of Ludlow, where they last lived, feared to allow them to "gain a settlement," and thus render their town liable for their future support. So they obtained the consent of the agent that the widow and her son need not keep strict time, and offered to furnish a room in her old desolate house, three miles from the factory, if she would live there. The proud woman understood the motive, and, with a flash of her dark eyes, declined their kindness. But she soon bought a little furniture of a family that was moving away, and re-established herself in the gloomy old wreck.

It was now late in the fall when the widow Jones first noticed that the grass was disappearing from the road side by the bars opposite her door. It soon grew obviously worse; and though a bald spot on a man's head is no great wonder, this bare spot, with no hoof-marks on it, baffled all her ingenuity. The fence too seemed worn, as if by loungers leaning upon it. What could that mean? No human gathering could have been held in that lonely place since the day when that moldering frame was raised except on that sad day when the moldering frame of the owner went to its long home.

The explaination of that mystery involves us in a deeper one. One night in September a man from Ludlow was passing the house just after the factory bell had announced the hour of nine. As he neared the house he heard a groan. It was a single groan, and then all was still. But it was such a groan as no one utters twice, and he who hears it never wishes to hear it again. He felt it his duty to rush into the house, but he dared not. After long hesitation he went on his way speculating whether the widow had murdered her idiot son or had been murdered by him. And when he saw them both come quietly into the village the next morning he doubted first his eyes and next his memory.

But the same errand again brought him past that lonely house a few nights later. Again he heard the nine o'clock bell as he approached the house, and again, as he was opposite the house, that dreadful groan. The next night he walked out with a neighbor, so timing his steps that when near the house both heard that mortal sound. Both were certain that it came from the house.

Three went out, and five, and fifteen; and thirty. All heard the groan and all agreed that it was exact to its time to a quarter of a minute. Old Captain Hardcastle said that if he were shut up in a hold as dark as midnight, he could tell within ten minutes when the time for his "leven o'clock" came, but he couldn't keep time with a ghost. One guessed the spirits heard the bell. The agent stopped the bell one night, but the groan was heard as usual. And it was not a similar groan, but the same groan, repeated every night since poor Jones "broke his neck." Others said that if they were the widow, rather than live a month in that house they would confess the deed and be hanged.

One night the lawyer and the doctor of Ludlow, both young men, went out quite early. They went into the house and "wanted to wait till the moon rose." The widow gave them scant welcome; she had not forgotten Ludlow prudence, and she always conjectured that her present guests had their share in that affair. Without a candle she sat there stretching her skinny hands to the blaze, for the night was chill. The gawky boy, who would be nearly seven feet long if straightened out, and who seemed to have acquired his longitude at the expense of his latitude, as it put through a rolling mill, sat there in kinks and silence. They heard the factory bell, they heard a cricket, they heard a lusty rat, but they heard no groan. At half-past nine they went out to a large, shivering, impatient crowd that had missed their groan and left misused. In an instant more the groan was heard in all its perfection. Our friends hurried back to the house to inquire whether the lawyer had dropped a glove. The widow was making up a trundle-bed that had been lurking unsuspected by them beneath the large one in the darkest corner of the room. They admired this contrivance for economizing space. Could the widow move it easily? She had run it in and drew it out again. By this time the lawyer had found his glove in his pocket, and again they wished the widow good night.

Meanwhile the outsiders had heard two extra groans; the first was somewhat different from the usual one, but the last was exact.

"I have found, says the lawyer, "that Ludlow has expended at least three hundred miles travel on foot, and all in the night, and a hundred hours loafing by these old bars, just to hear that woman draw out her trundle bed for that Jacob's-ladder idiot."

"And let me recommend you," added the doctor, "when you find anything you cannot explain, not to jump to the conclusion that it is supernatural. It is more than probable—it is certain—that, if you knew enough, you could find a physical cause for every physical effect."

And so they all went home and went to bed.

And the next spring the grass grew again around the widow's bars.

OF ALL THE STRANGE SIGHTS in Paris, none is more curious than the snail seller. He trundles a large and shallow hand-cart through the streets, covered with huge snails crawling all over the sides of the cart, with horns extended and house on back. A dozen can be purchased for the small sum of two sous; you can select them yourself, and carry them away in a paper bag. Some people eat them raw, like oysters; others roast them with savory herbs. The best snails come from Burgundy in the autumn, and are fattened on the vine leaves. Those now selling are gathered in every ditch outside the city, the several cemeteries yielding the largest supplies.

The improvements are a two-story frame dwelling house of 8 rooms, a frame bank barn, 36x60 feet, with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings, all in good repair. It is in a good neighborhood, convenient to schools, churches, stores, &c., and will be sold very low for cash or approved securities.

Also, a RIVER BOTTOM FARM of 76 acres, 12 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, one half mile from Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville railroad; near churches, schools, stores, &c., in the flourishing villages of Boston and Green Oak. The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame bank barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 700 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from the city. Will be sold as a whole or in lots of one acre or more, to suit purchasers.

Also, A FARM OF 173 ACRES, situated in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., near the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Houston Station. The improvements are a two-story frame house, with six rooms and good cellar, a frame bank barn 40 by 60 feet, and other outbuildings. There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; 130 acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm; and with it will be sold all the personal property on the premises, consisting of horses, cows, stock cattle, hogs and poultry, harness, gears, wagon, plows, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Together will be sold very low and on easy terms, to a responsible purchaser.

Also, a desirable and very fertile Tract of Land of 158 ACRES AND 25 PERCHES, in Elizabeth Tp., Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Hempfield railroad, and one and one-half miles from the Connellsville railroad at Suter's Station. On this farm are 40 acres of superior white oak timber, which alone is now worth one-half the price asked for the whole tract. The improvements are a log house, frame barn, good fencing, and an apple orchard of good fruit. It is well watered and underlaid with limestone and flag stone of a superior quality, with stone coal for the use of the farm.

Also, The best FARM in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., of 250 ACRES, about six miles south of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad at Bolivar Station. The improvements are two large hewed log dwellings; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two apple orchards, in good bearing condition; corn crib, wagon-shed and other outbuildings. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; fencing all in first rate order, and the land of the best quality of limestone soil, about 200 acres of which is cleared and the residue of the tract in good timber, such as white oak, rock oak, hickory, walnut and beech. This property will be sold very cheap and on good terms, as the owner wishes to engage in other business. For particulars enquire of RIVER NEWS.

The weather although still very hot, was comparatively pleasant yesterday, and while the sun was about as strong as ever, there was a pretty good breeze most of the day. The river is about stationary with ten inches in the channel, according to the metal mark, though it is claimed that there is double that on Glass House. It is a matter of no great importance whether there are ten or twenty inches, as steamers can do nothing on even twenty inches, but it is important to have the marks correct.

There are two or three small steamers navigating the Monongahela.

—Sharp Hemphill writes that the time of the Andy Ackley, St. Louis to Benton, distance 3,175 miles, was sixty-three days and eighteen hours.

—Since 1828, the Chattahoochee river, Ga., has been navigated by 134 steamboats. Of these 8—half of which are tied up—are now upon it. Of the remainder, during these forty years, 45 have been worn out, 6 blown up accidentally, 2 by the Federals, 3 blown away in a gale, 2 lost by high water, 9 burned and 29 sunk—in all 96 casualties—and 30 have left the river.

—The system of reshipping over the Rapids at Keokuk, has been fairly inaugurated, and we have no doubt witnessed the departure of the last through boat of the season. Both the Upper Mississippi lines are thoroughly prepared for that sort of work, each having a full complement of boats both above and below, and very little delay will be caused to passengers or freight in consequence of the change.

—The St. Louis Democrat, of Thursday, says: The robbing of passengers in the night time on steamboats is almost of daily occurrence up the river, during this hot weather. Passengers are obliged to leave the doors of their staterooms open or else smother, and the thieves have no difficulty in reaching their victims. The thieves are sharp. One of them the other night attempted to take a watch from a gentleman who was awake, in an upper berth. When asked "who's this?" the thief responded, "excuse me, sir, I guess I'm in the wrong room." On the steamer Milwaukee, last week, we are told, money to the amount of $1,300 was taken from passengers in one night. Parties were arrested at McGregor, but no evidence was adduced against them. People traveling on the river had better leave their valuables with the clerks—the office safe cannot be entered very well.

—St. Louis dispatches of Wednesday; report as follows: The decline still continues in the Illinois and Mississipp. The Missouri is falling slowly at Omaha, and rising at St. Joseph. The Kate Kinny passed the latter place yesterday, with 10,000 sacks corn for St. Lous. The Peoria City comes out of the Missouri to-day with the largest freight trip ever brought from that river. The Camelia left for Pittsburgh yesterday, with about fifteen tons; she has no barge, and takes no ore. The Silver Cloud, for Pittsburgh, took no freight; having no fancy for 12½c. per 100 pounds. She has a barge, and takes 400 tons ore at Carondelet for Ironton.....The Commonwealth, for New Orleans, took 500 tuns, and gets 1,000 tuns at Cairo. The City of Alton leaves to-day for Memphis with a fair trip. The Welcome is loading for Omaha.....The water on the lower rapids being insufficient to enable Northern line packets to cross, they now reship at Keokuk.....Captain Joe Brown has purchased the ram Vindicator from the Government, and will have her fitted for the purpose of keeping the harbor free from ice during the winter.

WE PRINT on the inside pages of this morning's GAZETTE: Second page: Ephemeris, The Haunted House in Ludlow, Mass. Third page: New York Financial Market and other Telegraph Markets, Imports by Railroad, River Matters. Sixth page: Pittsburgh Finance and Trade, Metal, Produce and Petroleum Markets. Seventh page: Miscellaneous Clippings.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 143⅜@143½.

OUR petroleum market exhibited extraordinary activity yesterday, the sales of the day reaching the very large figure of 46,700 barrels.

THE Union Pacific Railway has its rails laid for full seven hundred miles west of Omaha, and by November it will reach Salt Lake City, three hundred and twenty miles farther.

THE House Committee of Investigation into alleged Ordnance frauds, have exploded an "Amsterdam" bomb-shell under Gen. DYER, the Chief of the Ordnance Department. They report very serious charges as to his pecuniary interest in certain contracts, and have submitted a joint resolution desiring the President to remove him from office.

THE Democrats demand a reduction of the army. In two years it has been reduced from a million of men to fifty thousand, and Gen. GRANT says it will be reduced to seventeen thousand by July 1, 1869. Is not that a reduction? The Republicans, it must be observed, have not tho spite against the army, which saved the Union, that the Democrats have, who wanted the Union destroyed.

THE Democrats demand the "subordination of the military to the civil power." In North and South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Arkansas and Louisiana, Gen. GRANT, in conformity with the laws, brought the military force in subordination to the civil authorities. In all the other seceding States he will do the same thing, as soon as their citizens duly subordinate themselves to the National Government.

THE new State Lunatic Hospital, with the approbation of the Governor, has been located at Danville, which is very near the centre of the district it is intended to serve, both in respect to territory and population. This decision will enable Mr. MANN, of Potter county, to see how big a fool he made of himself by declaring in the House, at the last session, that it was determined in advance to place it near a certain other town.

MR. MANN and Mr. HAZLEHURST have both withdrawn from the contest for the office of District Attorney at Philadelphia. Mr. CHARLES GILPIN has been placed in nomination in their stead. He was formerly Mayor of the city, and is a gentleman of fine abilities and attainments, and of the highest reputation. These arrangements remove all dissatisfaction from the Republican ranks in that city, and ensure a splendid triumph at the polls.

THE Democratic masses should not deceive themselves. They think they will vote SEYMOUR into the Presidency, but they may depend upon it that this high office is intended by their ex-rebel leaders for BLAIR, who nominally runs for the second place. He has evidently been selected, first, for his revolutionary opinions and pledges, and, second, with an express view to the palpable certainty, in the case of Democratic success, that SEYMOUR will prove physically or mentally incapable of completing the full term of office. Whatever may be said of the New Yorker's soundness in other respects, his bodily health is of the most frail and uncertain nature. His physician, it is said, urges his immediate departure for Europe. At his own home, in Utica, the other day, when publicly received on his return from the Convention, he did not appear to address the multitude, having been forbidden to do so by his physician. It is very doubtful if he can bear the excitement and fatigue of the canvass, and there is no doubt that the Convention has designed BLAIR's nomination to meet that contingency. Remember, therefore, Democrats, that your ticket means BLAIR—and BLAIR only, or rather BLAIR and another war.

WHEN our Minister at Berlin, Mr. BANCROFT, concluded the Expatriation treaty with the North German Confederation, it was very generally anticipated that the important principle which this instrument established, would be adopted, at some not far distant day, into similar negotiations with other European powers. This expectation is already realized so far that several of the South German States, including the leading Kingdom of Bavaria, have assented to treaties of the same character. And, only two days since, Lord STANLEY announced, in the English Commons, that Great Britain accepts cordially the American proposition that the citizen of any power may expatriate himself and adopt another nationality. No treaty is yet made to that end between the two governments, but it is evident, from this formal and explicit declaration by the Queen's Ministry, that the recognition of the principle will be followed in due time by its expression in the text of a formal agreement. While this fortunate but not unreasonable concord of two great nations, upon a point so intimately affecting the traditional idea of sovereign rights and the obligations of the subject, has thus removed a question heretofore of great difficulty from any contingency of future dispute, it affords a gratifying proof of the entire harmony which controls the intercourse of two powerful empires, and illustrates how effectively the progress of a wiser intelligence is disenchanting, one after another, the illusions of antiquated prejudice.

REPUBLICAN NEIGHBORS:

Your Executive Committee, for Allegheny county, has specially designated a full list of Vigilance Committee-men in each ward and township, whose names are given in another place. You will also observe that these Committees are empowered to make any additions to their number, with a view to greater efficiency if desired. You are also entreated to note that these appointments do not relieve each and every other Republican voter from his primary obligation, as a good Republican and good citizen, to omit no reasonable amount of labor, or to spare no efforts, in season or out of season, to promote the good cause which we all have at heart. We, all of us, expect our good old county to make a good report of herself this fall, and the way to do this is for each man to remember that he must not only vote himself, but see that all his friends vote, and vote right. You cannot ensure this result more certainly than by beginning now. Canvass your own neighborhoods, talk to the man next door, find out what the Democrats are doing round the corner, watch the resorts where men congregate, ascertain the names of the doubtful—if there be any doubtful, in these days of Southern rebellism once more rampant—and take all such cases at once in hand; answer questions, furnish information and documents, and do all you can to awaken the interest of the careless and unreflecting. Don't destroy Republican newspapers, but, after you have read them, save them to put into other hands. Spread the light of your own intelligent opinions all about you, and don't let October come without being able to say that you have saved or gained at least one vote, each man of you, for the country's cause. Just try that plan, and old Allegheny will fill the bill, and more too, at the polls. There is plenty of time to do this, provided you begin now. Don't put it off to next week!

THE SAFETY OF LIFE ON STEAM VESSELS.

It is admitted that a large proportion of the fatal disasters occurring annually by explosions or fire, on steamers navigating the inland waters of this country, might be prevented by the adoption of precautions more stringently devised and more faithfully enforced, to ensure the reliability of the materials employed in the construction or propulsion of such craft, the competency of the officers in charge of them, and to reduce the fire-risk to its practicable minimum. A bill for this purpose, very elaborately minute in its details, was proposed some months since by Special Agent CRAWFORD of the Treasury Department, and was laid before the House Committee on Commerce. Recognizing the very evident fact that the only effective legislation to the ends desired must proceed from Congress, a letter to the Committee, accompanying the bill, dwells very forcibly upon the imperfections of existing laws, even the act of 1852 leaving much yet to be desired. Mr. CRAWFORD'S letter exhibits a thorough acquaintance with the subject, and the bill (H. R. No. 1372) is believed to supply the needful regulations which would ensure as complete a protection for life and property, in transit by water, as can be afforded by the use of the best materials in construction, and by establishing the highest standards for the skill and prudence of the officers in charge of the vessels.

Very naturally, the topic of fatal steamboat disasters leads the mind first to that class of accidents resulting from boiler explosions. A very large fatality has occasionally resulted from collisions, from fire and the various other methods of destruction known to steamboat experience, but explosions, although seldom occasioning any greater loss of life, suggest to every mind ideas peculiarly startling and painful. The suddenness of their occurrence, the complete helplessness of those who are exposed to become victims, the fact that death is, in a majority of cases, preceded by protracted and intense suffering, and that disasters of this sort always leave some survivors maimed and pitiable wretches for life—these explain why we are all inclined to regard an explosion of a steam-boiler as the most deplorable calamity that can endanger the traveller.

It is clearly established that a considerable per centage of these explosions results 1st, from imperfections in the metals employed; 2d, from inexperience, ignorance or recklessness on the part of engineers, the first being the most numerous class. It follows that the use of materials so prepared as to be absolutely safe, and this to be ascertained by a competent and thorough system of inspection, would secure perfect immunity from what is now the source of such danger and destruction. The bill in question seems to be precisely adapted to that object. It prescribes standards for the strength of iron and steel plates used in boilers, requires them to be inspected and branded, regulates the manufacture of the steam apparatus, and imposes severe penalties upon the iron manufacturer or the boiler-maker who shall disregard these provisions. The bill takes it for granted that iron and steel can be made of sufficient tensile strength, and therefore enacts that only iron and steel of such strength may be used. Carry this idea faithfully into practice, and the dangers of explosion from defective materials will be completely obviated.

Tables are submitted, in the Report before us, which leaves no room for doubt that iron and steel boiler-plates of ample strength are readily procurable. Samples were submitted by Pittsburgh manufacturers only, for test at the Washington Navy Yard, which show that there is no difficulty in getting the right material. PARK, BROTHERS & Co's., cast-steel boiler-plates exhibited a mean tensile strength of 64,130 pounds to the square inch; BROWN & Co's., iron plates a mean of 61,857 pounds; LYON, SHORB & Co's., plates. 58,161 pounds; SHOENBERGER & Co's., plates, 47,283 pounds. The result in each test shows a strength which places an explosion from steam practically out of the question. As better illustrating the character of the tests to which these plates were submitted, and as exhibiting more clearly the precise results of experiments, we copy the tabular statement from the official document before us:

We do not write this article to puff Pittsburgh manufactures. Our purpose is rather to show that a very fatal class of casualties can be prevented by the use of suitable materials; that such materials are entirely accessible; and that it is the duty of the legislative authority to require their use. The bill now before the House, if enacted into a law, would fully meet this duty. Its sixty-six sections are carefully drawn up and supply all the deficiencies in the existing laws, touching the material and personal requirements necessary to the safety of lives and property. We sincerely hope that the bill may become a law at the next session, regretting that its very recent submission has excluded it from consideration before the impending adjournment.

THROUGHOUT the five anthracite counties the miners are reported to be on a strike, demanding ten hours pay for eight hours work. That there is a formidable strike—indeed, a strike of unexampled proportions—seems clear enough, but there must be some confusion of statement as to the classes making it, or the pretext on which it is made. The miner proper, as we understand, work not by the day but by the ton, and hence could not consistently promote a strike for eight hours of labor instead of ten as a day's work. The helpers are employed by the day, not by the owners but by the miners. Hence, the strike would seem to be on the part of one class of workmen against another class. The effect would be the same, however, in suspending operations. It would, besides, naturally follow, that if the miners were compelled to pay to the helpers increased wages they would require larger compensation per ton.

It is, also, reported that the iron workers in those counties have joined the strike and that all the mills are closed.

Our exchanges from that region, are, of course, not of as late date as the telegraphic dispatches; but judging from them we infer the telegraphic accounts are exaggerated.

THERE were more rebel than Union soldiers in the Democratic Convention.

BLAIR AND NEGRO SUFFRAGE.

To such of our Democratic readers as insist that white men shall rule America, we commend the following resolution which their candidate for Vice President, Mr. BLAIR, endorsed on the 7th of June, 1865, at the Cooper Institute in New York. He made a speech which coincided with the sentiment of the audience, after which this resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That we hold this truth to be self-evident, that he with whom we can trust the bullet to save the life of the nation, we can likewise entrust the ballot to preserve it; and we invoke the co-operation of the Federal and State governments, and the people throughout the Union, to use all lawful means to establish a system of suffrage which shall be equal and just to all, black as well as white."

American politicians have a remarkable facility for abandoning one set of opinions in order to take up another, but we have never seen anything more remarkable in this line, than Mr. BLAIR exhibits when, in three short years, he wheels about from advocating negro suffrage into its denunciation as a political wrong, justifying revolution.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

A distinguished Baptist minister in England, at a public meeting, recently made a defense of the distinct existence of the Baptist Church. The sentiments having been heartily endorsed by the Examiner and Chronicle of New York, it gives in connection with that approval also its estimate of other denominations, arguing, that if the Baptist denomination is not substantially the reproduction of Apostolic Churches, alike as to faith, and as to order, there is no good reason for its existence. If it is the reproduction of such Churches, that fact is reason enough. A Baptist needs no defense of a Church or denomination of Churches, which is a mere human development, like the Papal, the Anglican, and the Presbyterian, or a more human device, like the Methodist. We give the exact works in the last four lines.

The Western Advocate says Rev. Ammi Nichols is the patriarch of Vermont Congregationalism. He is eighty-seven years old, and has preached the Gospel, without interruption, for sixty-four years.

Bishop Marvin, of the Southern Methodist Church, thus lovingly (?) speaks of the Methodist Episcopal Church: When Moloch himself was satisfied with blood and plunder, there was yet an insatiable maw to be appeased only by the franchises and property of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The Northern Methodist Church, with a conscience scared by the crimes of the war; with warm, bloody flesh of martyrs still quivering upon its tusks, and an appetite for plunder which four years of ravine could not glut, but only whetted to superdemon eagerness, plead with the conqueror its services, as a reason why it should be turned loose upon the domain and the property of the Southern Church. This coalition of a military despotism and an apostate Church against Southern Methodism was well calculated to throw them strongly upon themselves.

The Congregational Convention of Vermont passed a resolution denouncing the tendency of certain professed Christians to participate in popular forms of amusement, such as card-playing, billiards, the theater, the dance, as being dangerous and vicious in their influence.

The Presbyterians are fully aroused at some places to the necessity of aggressive movements, by the erection of houses of worship in destitute places in and near large cities. The right spirit is seen in the remarks of Rev. Dr. Hornblower, of Paterson, New Jersey, who, in urging his people to form a new church in the outskirts of that congregation, said: "All of you who live beyond —— street, go out there and be organized into a church; if it leaves half of the pews vacant, we will see them all filled again in a few years." This is the right spirit.

One of the largest, most active and benevolent churches in St. Louis is that of which Dr. Nichols is pastor. Rev. S. M. Morton is pastor of the North Presbyterian Church, New School, at St. Louis. Both these ministers are natives of Western Pennsylvania, and were students of the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny City.

A correspondent of the Presbyterian Banner, writing from Kansas in regard to ministerial work in that country, represents, first, that the minister must do a little of everything; second, another peculiarity of the work is hunting up stray sheep, and also another is receiving less funds for ministerial labor than is necessary for the minister's support.

Rev. Thomas J. Morgan, formerly a General in the army, a member of this year's graduating class in Rochester Theological Seminary, has been elected Corresponding Secretary of the New York Baptist Union for Ministerial Education.

Rev. Otis Gibson, who has been preaching for some time in western New York, formerly of the Methodist Mission in China, has just been appointed by Bishop Thomson to go to San Francisco to undertake to form a mission among the Chinese in that State. His experience of several years in China, and knowledge of the people and language, eminently fit him for the work.

Applications have been made from over one hundred students for admission into Drew Theological Seminary, New Jersey, under the control of the M. E. Church, during the next term. The institution has recently been opened under the Presidency of Rev. Dr. McClintock.

The General Convention of the New Jerusalem (Swedenborgian) Church for the United States, held its annual session at Portland, Maine, some days since. Rev. Dr. Worcester presided. Delegates were present from nearly every State in the Union.

It is stated that Bishop Quintard (Protestant Episcopal) of the South, on his late visit to England collected about eight thousand pounds sterling for the University of the South.

The two ministers, Revs. George Storrs and Samuel Norris, whom the Methodist General Conference of 1836 solemnly censured for attending an anti-slavery meeting, which censure the last General Conference declared excinded, are living in Brooklyn, New York. Thirty year's changes have been marvelously indeed!

Rev. and General Jessee Hale Moore, Presiding Elder of Decatur District, Illinois, and late delegate to the General Conference, has been nominated to the House of Congress in the Seventh Illinois District.

Professor Pendleton, of Bethany College, denies the rumor that a grand-daughter of the late Doctor Alexander Campbell has been baptized by Archbishop Purcell into the Roman Catholic Church.

The feeling seems to be growing in the New England States, particularly among the Congregationalists, to have but one sermon per Sabbath, and hold Sunday School in the afternoon and social meetings in the evening for prayer and speaking exercises.

The Erie Methodist Episcopal Conference, a body of ministers numbering two hundred strong, is now holding its annual session at Warren, Ohio. Bishop Kingsley presides. The Pittsburgh Christian Advocate says the weather is hot enough to make the session "dusty" and somewhat of an advance on "comfortable."

Dr. Gilbert Haven, the talented editor of Zion's Herald, Boston, has declined the offered chair in the editorial department of the Independent, at a salary of six thousand a year.

The Wesleyan General Conference took action on the woman suffrage question, and decided they should have the privilege to vote. Churches that tolerate members connected with Masonry, or other secret societies, are to be excluded from the body. Since the secession of a large number of ministers and members from this body, who have mostly united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Methodist (Protestant) Church, the denomination is not very numerous.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Tributs of Respect.

On the announcement of the death of William M. Moffett, Esq., in Court, yesterday, on motion of John M. Kirkpatrick, Esq., Court adjourned as a tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased, and ordered the announcement of the death to be placed upon the minute. A meeting of the members of the bar was then organized by calling Hon. Edwin M. Stowe to the chair, and appointing W. T. Haines and William C. Moreland, Esqs., Secretaries.

On motion of Jacob H. Miller, Esq., a committee was appointed to prepare resolutions relative to the death of Mr. Moffett. The following gentlemen constituted the committee: Jacob H. Miller, John M. Kirkpatrick, Marcus Achesen, A. M. Brown and T. B. Hamilton, Esqs. The committee reported the following series of resolutions, which were adoptad unauimously:

Resolved, That we have heard with feelings of heartfelt sorrow, of the sudden demise of our friend and brother of the Bar, William M. Moffett.

Resolved, That whilst we humbly bow to the will of an All Wise Providence in this sad dispensation, we deeply feel that the Bar has lost an able and high-toned member, an honorable, genial and kindly spirit—the community a benevolent and good citizen, and his family a loving and faithful protector.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Court, and a copy transmitted to his family; that we attend his funeral in a body, and these proceedings be published in the city papers.

City Mortality.

Dr. A. G. McCandless, Physician to the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the city of Pittsburgh, from July 5th to July 12th, 1868:

From consumption, 3; Pneumonia, 2; puerperal fever, 2; sunstroke, 1; paralysis, 1; cholera infantum, 16; convulsions, 5; inanition, 1; bronchitis, 1; disease of the brain, 2; inflamation of the bowels, 2; marasmus, 2; hydrocephalus, 1; typhoid fever, 1.

Of the above there were under 1 year of age, 23; from 1 to 2, 6; from 2 to 5, 1; from 5 to 10, 2; from 20 to 30, 4; from 30 to 40, 3; from 50 to 60, 1; from 70 to 80, 1. Of these 20 were males 21 females; white, 39; colored, 2; total number of deaths, 41.

Abused Her Son.

Mary Dailey, a resident of Weaver's Court, off Grant street, made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging James McTiernan with assault and battery. It appears that a son of the prosecutrix, a boy about twelve years old, who is a bootblack, was engaged at the corner of Grant and Third streets blacking a gentleman's boots, when the accused, who was beastly drunk came staggering along the street, and without the slightest provocation struck the boy with his fist and knocked him down. He was arrested and taken to the lock-up until sufficiently sober to have a hearing. Such unfeeling, drunken brutishness should be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

Sudden Death.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest yesterday morning on the body of a man named Elias Biven, who died suddenly at the rolling mill of Everson, Preston & Co. It seems that he had been employed as a night watchman, and about three o'clock in the morning, while passing a furnace, he suddenly dropped to the ground. Being conveyed to the outside of the mill every effort was made to revive him, but without effect, and after lingering in a state of stupor for about two hours he expired. The deceased boarded in Pipetown and was about sixty-five years of age. His wife has been dead for some time, but he leaves two children to mourn a father's loss.

A Stolen Horse on its Travels.

Some time since we noticed a horse stealing operation, in which Mr. Wm. Wilson, of New Alexandria, was the victim. The animal was recovered after a long and persevering search by Officer McCready, of the Mayor's police. The following are the particulars in regard to the case: It is alleged that on the 15th of June last Dr. A. J. Duncan, formerly of Allegheny, called at Mr. Wilsons' house and procured from a son of that gentleman the horse and a saddle and bridle. He stated that he wished to visit a patient, and would soon return the animal. The Doctor came to Pittsburgh, and it is alleged that he not only forgot to return the horse, but conceived the idea that he owned it. A gentleman named Rebman, residing in Birmingham, purchased the horse, which is worth at least about two hundred dollars, from Duncan, paying him seventy-five dollars for it. Mr. Rebman subsequently sold the horse to A. Detrich, of East Liberty, and it afterwards passed from Detrich's hands to a livery stable keeper, of Lawrenceville. It was sold again, a feed store keeper of Lawrenceville purchasing him for a wagon horse. Thursday, as stated, officer McCready found him in the possession of the feed store keeper who, upon being informed that the horse had been stolen, promptly turned him over to the officer. Mr. Rebman, who was with the officer, identified him as the horse he purchased from Duncan and the same which he sold to Detrich. Mr. Wilson was in the city yesterday, and being shown the horse at once identified it as his property. Search is still being made for the alleged thief, but as yet no traces of him has been discovered.

The Heated Term.

During the present extremely hot weather cases of cholera morbus, cholera infantum, and all other diseases of that character are prevailing to an alarming extent, and every man, woman and child in the community is liable at any time to an attack of some one of them, unless precautionary means are adopted to prevent it. Every family should be provided with a specific for cholera and a preventive to all summer diseases. Dr. Harris' Electric Summer Cordial is a most excellent preventive and an infallible remedy for all diseases of the stomach and bowels, and his cramp cure a reliable specific for cholera. Both these articles are for sale by Harris & Ewing, druggists, corner of Wayne and Liberty streets, who are also agents for Schoonmaker's pure white lead and McCoy's Verditer Green. Give them a call.

—The War Department at Washington has ordered the immediate removal of the bodies of the two hundred Confederate officers who died and were buried on Johnson's Island, while prisoners of war, to the Catholic cemetery of Sandusky, O., the removal to be commenced on Monday next, under the direction of a Government agent sent for that purpose.

—The number of deaths in St. Louis for the week ending yesterday numbered two hundred and three, of which thirty-three were from cholera infantum, eleven from sun-stroke, twelve from apoplexy and eleven from softening of the brain, the two latter superinduced by the heat.

—A London special dated 16th says: The Prince of Wales and Prince Alfred visited Admiral Farragut's fleet on Tuesday. Farragut returned the visit to the British frigate Galatia, with Prince Alfred, on the 16th, and by invitation then visited Queen Victoria at Osborne House.

—At Cincinnati, on Thursday, there were twenty-five cases of sunstroke, ten of them fatal. Nine cases were reported up to five p. m. yesterday, eight of which were fatal. The total number of cases, commencing last Monday, have been sixty-one, of which thirty-eight proved fatal.

—At Toronto, N. Y., on Wednesday, a block of wooden stores was destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $50,000.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

When the system is once affected it will not rally of its own accord; it needs help—it must be strengthened and invigorated; this is especially the case when the

KIDNEYS, BLADDER OR URINARY ORGANS

Are affected. For immediate relief and permanent cure,

DR. SARGENT'S

Are a perfectly safe and reliable specific. This well known remedy has effected a large number of speedy and remarkable cures, and have never failed to give relief when taken according to directions.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES.

Malaria, the most deadly enemy of health, is everywhere active in July and August. The blazing sun is decomposing and fermenting every species of vegetable and animal abomination, and poisonous gases that depress and infect the system are universally present. On the prairies, in the swamps, in the woods, and in the midst of crowded cities, this development of the elements of disease is now going on. In short the human body is in a state of siege, and reason and common sense suggest that its DEFENCES BE STRENGTHENED. A stimulant, a tonic, a corrective, and an alterative are required to put it in perfect trim, and these four grand requisites are combined in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. A man must be made of steel not to be affected by the morbid matter set afloat in the atmosphere by the rays of an almost vertical sun. Nine-tenths of the community are premonished at this season by debility, indisposition for exertion, nervousness, &c., that they need something to build them up and regulate their animal machinery. Do they want to "fight it out on that line all summer," or to achieve an immediate victory over their unpleasant symptoms, and secure that first of Heaven's blessings—"a sound mind in a sound body?" if the latter is their desire let them resort to the BITTERS without delay. That agreeable and potent vegetable regenerative will soon restore the system to its balance—regulating the liver, strengthening the stomach, gently relieving the bowels, and giving vigor, elasticity and energy to the whole frame. These are proven facts. No man who reads the testimony on which they are founded can for a moment doubt them.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculair mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to the discharge, which I believed was a salutary provision of nature to get rid of some morbid condition of the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, I—— C——.

THE ANTI-TORNADO RAILROAD BRIDGE

Is eminently adapted for our large western rivers, with spans of 550 feet, 80 feet above low water. It will resist the strongest winds, hurricanes, and the heaviest loaded trains will not affect it. I made the discovery on the 25th of June last. A model 6 feet long I exhibit, and give specification on its principles to all parties who take an interest in bridges, and charge 25 cents.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, July 17, 1868.

The government bond market is more active, especially the new issues of 1865, 1867 and 1868, but the old so called foreign bonds are less in demand, except ten-forties, which advanced ¾ per cent. The unusual ease of the money market at this season of the year, and dullness of business, and the Railroad share market force capitalist to use their money; in the absence of any better investments they are willing to take governments at present prices.

Gold is still higher to-day, opening at 142⅝, and closing at 143¾ to 143½; the rise is very steady, and there is no excitement whatever but a regular demand to pay for imported goods for which gold has to be shipped or to pay duties requiring likewise gold. The rise is mainly due to enormous speculations on the bear side prior to July 1st by importers who thought to influence the gold brokers, but the market did not yield after July payments commenced, although large amounts were thrown on the market. The brokers have it in their power to run up gold to any price they choose, having nothing to fear from the Treasury Department. So it it may be safely estimated that before September next the premium cannot decline materially, since before that time cotton cannot be shipped, and gold has to supply the place of exchange.

Stocks are a little stronger, but business is inactive, and quotations are only sustained to-day to yield to-morrow in order to keep the brokers employed.

Express shares reflect the general dullness of business—they are steadily declining.

Money is in full supply at rates ranging from 8 to 10 per cent.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 143¾; 1881 bonds, 114; 5-20s, 1862, 114; 1864 do, 111; 1865 do, 112; new, 1865 and 1867, 109¼; Ten Forties, 108⅛; Seven Thirties, 109⅛.

New York Central, 132⅞; Erie, 68⅝; Michigan Southern, 92; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 86½; Northwestern, common, 79⅞; Preferred, 81⅞; Chicago & Rock Island, 107½; Pittsburgh & Fort Wayne, 108⅜; Ohio & Mississippi Certificates, 29¼; Merchants Union Express, 23½; Western Union Telegraph, 35¼; Corydon, 25; Quicksilver, 21; Quartz Hill, 1.15.

—When the tariff bill was up in the House on Monday, it was discussed two hours, but no action was reached then or since. Mr. Moorhead assailed Special Commissioner Wells very bitterly, and charged him with defeating the increase of the tariff both at the last and present session. The vote on taking up the bill was 84 to 57, there being three Pennsylvania Democrats among the affirmative, and thirty Republicans among the negative votes. Any definite important action on this bill at the present session is doubted.

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, July 17, 1868.

The metal market has been rather quiet during the week, the sales, in the aggregate, having been comparatively light, and while standard forge irons are firm and in limited supply, prices, compared with last week, have undergone no quotable change. We quote:

New York Dry Goods Market.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, July 17.—Dry Goods buoyant with a moderate inquiry, at 18a18½c for best makes of heavy brown Sheetings, 15a16c for fine do, 15a15c for best brown Shirtings, 9½a9¾c for standard Print Cloths, 13¼a14¼c for dark styles of Prints, 17a18c for the most popular makes of Ginghams, and 50a52½c for cotton bags. The Hadley Falls and the Holyoke companies have reduced the price of their spool thread to 95ca$1,50 for six cord and three cord.

Baltimore Market.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

BALTIMORE, July 17.—Flour quiet and steady. Wheat dull and lower; red $2,25a2,50. Corn firm at $1,16. Oats dull and unchanged. Provisions quiet and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, July, 17, 1868.

The general markets continue very quiet, and devoid of any new features worthy of special notice. As the demand for almost everything is restricted to supplying immediate wants, we have but very few round lot sales to record, while in values there are no important changes.

BUTTER—Is dull and unchanged; small sales of fresh packed at 23 to 25c, for prime to choice.

EGGS—Under the influence of continued light arrivals and an increased demand, the market is firmer, and prices are higher, ranging from 22 to 23c for fresh packed.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is scarce in steady demand at $2,50 to $2,55. There is some inquiry for Cloverseed, on speculation at low prices. No demand for Timothy.

SALT—Is dull and nominally unchanged at $1,75 to the trade, and $2 for small lots in store.

MILL FEED—Sales of 1 car choice Middlings, at $1,90 to $,95. Bran is quoted at $1,20 to $1,25, and scarce.

HAY—Is scarce firm and higher; sales at Alleghany Diamond scales of 20 loads new at $16 to $24 and 3 loads old at $27 to $29. The Hay crop is reported light in this section of country.

GRAIN—New Wheat is offering pretty freely for future delivery, while old has almost entirely disappeared. New, on spot, may be quoted at $2,20 to $2,25; we are cognizant of offers to sell New Red to be delivered within the next two or three weeks at $2,10, without finding buyers. Oats firm with very light arrivals; sales on track at 78, 79 to 80c. Corn is considerably firmer, but as yet there is no improvement the demand; we now quote at $1,05 to $1,10. Rye is dull and unsettled, and there are no established prices; there is but little offering, and but little is wanted. We quote nominally in the absence of sales at $1,50 to $1,55.

POTATOES—In fair supply, and unchanged; may be quoted at $1,50 to $1,75 per bushel.

GREEN APPLES—We note some small arrivals of new crop, mostly of inferior quality; quoted at $6 to $7 per bbl.

CHEESE—Is still quoted at 13 to 14c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 15 to 16c for Ohio Factory; 18c for Limburg, and 18 to 20c for Sweitzer.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is in steady demand at 13½ to 13¾c for Shoulders; 16c to 16¼ for Ribbed, and 18 to 18¼ for Clear Sides, and 20¼ to 21c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 18 to 18¼c. Dried Beef, 21 to 21½c. Mess Pork, $28,50 to $29.

LARD OIL—Is reported steady at $1,18 to $1,20 for No. 2, and $1,40 for No. 1.

FLOUR—The market is very dull and unsettled, and prices are irrregular. New Wheat Flour is offering at $11 to $11,50. Old may be quoted at $10 to $10,50 for Spring; $11 to $11,25 for Winter Wheat, and $12 to $13 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,75 to $9.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, July 17, 1868.

CRUDE—The market for Crude was again considerably excited to-day, though the feeling in regard to prices was scarcely as strong as it was last evening; then there were sales effected at 15, while to-day, so far as we could learn, 14¼ was the best that could be obtained, though some parties were still holding out for 15. The cause assigned for the firmness which prevailed last evening was the report that Antwerp had advanced to 54; this turned out to be untrue, 51 being the figure instead of 54. The sales reported were as follows:

1000 bbls on spot		15c
5000 "	21st July	15c
2200 "	on spot	15c
2000 "	August	14¼c
1500 "	July	14¼c
1000 "	spot	14½c
3000 "	1000 each July, Aug., Sept.	14½c

15,700

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was unusually active to-day, the reported sales reaching 30,000 bbls, in the aggregate, though, compared with yesterday, prices are without quotable change. Had the report of Antwerp having advanced to 54 francs been correct, there would, no doubt, have been a still further advance here today; as this was an error, however, it was found impossible to make another turn upward, as we feel satisfied that it would have been accomplished if such a thing were possible. As we have already remarked, however, the market was decidedly active, the sales being larger than during any preceding day for some time, and a very strong feeling seemed to prevail. The sales reported were as follows:

6000	2000	each	Oct., Nov., Dec.		35c

Astrology.

Exactly six hundred years ago, namely, at Paris, in 1268, Thomas Moult, the then celebrated astronomer, prophesied as follows of the year 1868: "The spring will be soft and beautiful; the summer dry and hot; the autumn moderate and very favorable to the harvests. There will therefore be plenty of wheat all over the earth, and grain consequently will be cheap. After August all the vineyards will be in a prosperous condition, and wine will be so cheap that every Christian people will thank God for it." Thus far the above prediction has been more completely verified than many other old predictions. At the close of the tenth century it was universally foretold that the year 999 would be the consummation of the world. The last trumpet was to sound and the seas and the graveyards to give up their dead, while all things dissolved in the fervent heat. So firmly, indeed, was this believed, that the land was untilled, the homestead unrepaired, and litigated rights almost entirely abandoned. Corn and cattle were at length exhausted, famine succeeded, and human flesh was more than once publicly exposed for sale. Henry of Germany became a monk of the Abbey of St. Vanne, and Robert of France a chorister of St. Denis. But time went on, and the years 999 and 1,000 are chiefly remarkable as an era of famine and pestilence, and rapine, anarchy and superstitution. In 1453, when the Turks seized Constantinople, it was predicted that their rule would last exactly 400 years. This, it was expected, would be fulfilled about the time of the Crimean war, but the crescent still glitters over the cupola of St. Sophia. About the beginning of the present century another of these predictions came in vogue. It ran: "I would not be a king in 1848; I would not be a grave digger in 1858; I would not be a doctor in 1868." In 1851, Dr. Cumming, an Englishman, foretold the end of the world in 1853, but the year before he refused to complete a bargain for the rent of a new house, because the owner would not give him a lease for more than twenty-five years!

A CORRESPONDENT of the London Times gives the following account of a trip over the newly finished Mont Cenis Railway:

The mountain train was composed of three first-class carriages, capable of containing twelve persons each, a luggage and a guard's van, and the locomotive. Every train is accompanied by three men, a chief guard, and two sous chefs de train (brakes men,) one being attached to each carriage, beside the two men on the engine. The carriages are well built, and about the width of a London omnibus, and the seats are arranged in the same manner along the side. The excellent precaution is adopted of having windows which cannot be opened, as in many places the masonry of the tunnels, posts, &c., are distant so few inches from the passing train that a thoughtless traveler putting his head out of the window would most assuredly come to grief. Twenty passengers in all, half ladies, we left Susa at 8:30 a. m., the ascent commencing immediately. At 10:05 we reached the summit, after several short halts to refresh our thirsty engine, and then sailed evenly and without jolting, at an average rate of fifteen kilometers an hour, down to Lanslebourg, reaching that village at 11:15. There is rather a "sensation" pitch leading down to Modane between this and San Michel, which, although short, must try the machinery as much as any part of the route, and most beautifully it worked, and fulfilled every expectation that may have been formed of it. Every one in the train could feel at this point, as, indeed, all throughout, that the engine was like a docile horse mounted by a man who could ride him, and obeying the slightest motion of the breaks. We ran into San Michel after five hours and a quarter passage, all well satisfied with our trip. The curves are very sharp, but in the descent each brakesman loosens the strain on the inside wheels, the iron buffers, as they turn at angles, give a "clink" as they clash, and the carriages swing easily round without a jolt or any unpleasant sensation.

BLANC, the proprietor of the gambling-hell at Homburg, is said to be worth sixty million francs. Thirty years ago he arrived at Frankfort with only twenty francs in his pocket. He is nominally the President of a stock company, but he waters the stock constantly and keeps most of the shares in his pocket. The other stockholders do not complain, because they get from sixty to ninety per cent. interest on their capital, although they are entitled to much larger dividends. When business at the roulette and trente-et-quarante tables is dull, the news is spread everywhere that somebody has won enormous sums of money from the "bank." Gudgeons from all the other watering places then flock to Homburg. It was Blanc who first introduced into his gambling-hell the feature of female decoy-ducks. Ladies generally shrink from gambling there if the seats at the tables are all occupied by the lords of creation. The shrewd Blanc, therefore, employs half a dozen Parisian cocottes with somewhat faded charms to sit all day long at the tables and gamble with funds which he furnishes to them. They are very richly dressed, and the croupiers address them with "Duchess" and "Countess," and the like; but these wretched women have to doff their finery at eleven o'clock at night, when the kursaal is closed, and then they return in their own humble toilet to the garret where they live. Their expenses are paid by Blanc, who gives them in addition five or six francs a day.

REINDEL, the Prussian headsman, lives in a very fine house in the neighborhood of Haveberg, and is well off, but his neighbors studiously refrain from holding any intercourse with him. He says he never yet met with a criminal who was to be beheaded but whose courage finally gave way. He thinks hanging would be a better mode of execution, nearly every criminal being afraid of the pain which they think the ax, in cutting off their heads, would give them. He says the most trying moment for him is always that of confronting his victim for the first time for the purpose of looking at his neck and cutting off his hair. All the women whom he beheaded he says, fainted as soon as they caught sight of him and learned who he was, and what he wanted of them. He denounces as a wanton cruelty the practice of reading once more to the criminal the whole long sentence passed upon him after he has reached the scaffold. He thinks that there is still sensibility in the head for several minutes after it has been severed from the trunk. A woman beheaded in Mecklenburg in 1866, had fainted on the scaffold, and seemed perfectly lifeless when she was tied to the block. After her head was off he picked it up, and saw to his horror that the eyes opened slowly, with an expression of great agony.

NEW SUSPENSION BRIDGE.—The Buffalo Express says: "The suspension bridge which is to span the chasm but a short distance below the Falls of Niagara will be passable next month. Rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, the work on this bridge has not been suspended during a working day for months—from forty to fifty workmen being constantly employed in its completion."

THE Irish language is gradually ceasing to be used. According to the census of Ireland, taken in 1851, it appeared that in a population of 6,574,278, as many as 23.3 per cent. spoke Irish; but ten years subsequently, a decrease of 4.2 per cent. had taken place since March, 1861, when the last census was taken, and the total number of inhabitants was 5,798,967, the entire Irish speaking population amounted to only 19.1 per cent. Of the 1,105,536 returned in 1861, those who could only speak Irish numbered 163,275, and the remainder professed a vernacular knowledge of both languages. But few educated persons could either read or write Irish. In 1851, more than half of the inhabitants of the province of Connaught could speak their own language; even still the counties of Galway and Mayo afford the greatest number of Irish speaking people, and in 1861 as many as 73,880 therein were returned as unable to speak English. The spoken Gaelic is dying out; and in twenty years more the oldest language in Northwestern Europe, except that of the Lapps and other extreme Northern tribes, will have ceased to be used.

A MAD MAGPIE.—The Etoile Belge tells the following story: "An African, living in the Rue Notre Dame, Aux Neiges, had a tame magpie, which, during the day, was in the habit of hopping about his yard and doorstep at liberty. A few days ago a dog bit the bird in the wing. From that moment all its gayety left it, and it ceased to whistle and talk. It refused food and water and crouched in a corner of the room. On its master approaching to put it in the cage, it became infuriated, and with its beak inflicted several severe wounds upon his hand. These were at once cauterized, and the magpie taken by the police to the veterinary hospital, where it exhibited other unmistakable signs of hydrophobia. This seems to confirm M. Beviere's opinion that birds, as well as all mammalia, including whales, are subject to hydrophobia.

SILVER, it is stated, has for many ages been withdrawn from circulation by the natives of the East Indies, who use that metal alone for ornaments of the person. The population of the country is nearly 100,000,000, and each individual, it is reported, wears four or five silver rings, bracelets or charms. The custom is not confined to the females, and the males are as profusely decorated as the women. Extravagant as the calculation may appear, it is stated that there are at least one thousand million ornaments worn by the natives, and no approximate estimate can be made of the money value of the decorations.

AT a late sitting of the Swedish Parliament there was quite a quarrel about the value and stability of the American Constitution. Some conservative members having sneered at it on account of exposing the ruler of the Republic to impeachment and deposition, Mr. Heligren, one of the extreme liberals, jumped up and cried, "Yes, so it does. But your constitution foists bad rulers forever upon suffering nations, and even their sons and grandsons!" The President called him to order, and quite a tumultuous scene ensued.

USE OF CHARCOAL IN FATTENING TURKEYS.—Four turkeys were cooped up and fed with meal, boiled potatoes and oats; four others of the same brood were treated in a similar manner in another pen, but with a pint daily of finely pulverized charcoal added to the food, and an abundant supply of lumps of the coal. All eight were killed the same, and those fed with the charcoal were found to weigh about a pound and a half each more than the others, and to be of much better quality.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTSF

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Fifth street, next door to GAZETTE office.

Will Meet To-Night.—The Grant and Colfax Club of Birmingham hold a meeting in the Town Hall this evening, at eight o'clock.

Degree Conferred.—We notice that the faculty of Amherst College, Massrchusetts, at their last meeting, conferred the degree of Master of Arts on our townsman, Mr. J. A. Emery.

Pardoned.—Mr. Bartley T. Campbell, of the Evening Mail, imprisoned at Philadelphia for libel, on Thursday received a pardon from Governor Geary, and will arrive home to-day.

Abandonment.—Anna Mary Zimmer made information yesterday, before Alderman McMasters, against her husband Louis Zimmer for desertion and abandonment. Warrant issued.

Progressing.—The laying of the double track on the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway is progressing rapidly, and we presume will be completed through the old borough of Birmingham during next week.

Committed—Antone Webber made information before Justice Heisel yesterday, charging Elizabeth Klouzhein with disorderly conduct. The accused was arrested and after a hearing was held to bail for her appearance at Court.

Surety of the Peace.—Joseph Brunot made information before Justice Heisel yesterday against Benjamin Stonely for surety of the peace. He alleges that Benjamin threatened to do him bodily injury. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Burglary.—On Thursday afternoon, during the absence of the family, the residence of Mr. Francis Hanna, off Fourth street, Liberty district, was entered by some adroit thief, and a valuable lot of clothes carried off. There is no clue to the thief.

Found.—The discharge of John Gardner, private of Capt. G. P. Davis' Co., (I), 21st regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, dated Trenton, New Jersey, July 3d, 1865, was found at the corner of Liberty and Hand streets. Mr. Gardner can get it by calling at this office.

Fined.—Daniel Jenkins and Wm. Baker, the parties implicated in the prize fight in the Ninth ward, on Thursday afternoon, had a hearing before Mayor Blackmore yesterday and were each fined five dollars and costs, upon payment of which they were discharged.

Sunstroke.—A German laborer, whose name we could not ascertain, was prostrated with the heat on Thursday afternoon, in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, (Duquesne borough). He was conveyed to his residence, where he was lying at last accounts in a very precarious situation.

Beat and Abused.—John Schlegal made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, charging George Drake and James McFarland with assault and battery. He alleges that the accused attacked and beat him in a shameful manner. A warrant was issued for their arrest.

Threatened Him.—John H. Duff appeared before Justice Ammon yesterday and made information against John Eckles for surety of the peace. He alleges that the defendant threatened to throw him into a pit at the Birmingham Gas Works. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Eckles.

Trouble About a Fence.—James Finnin made information before Mayor Drum yesterday against Wm. S. Gold. It appears that Finnin was building a fence on a lot of ground, which seems to be disputed property, when it is alleged that Gold ordered him to desist, and threatened to stone him off the place. A warrant was issued.

Sunstroke.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. David Johnston, residing at No. 77 River Avenue, Allegheny city, was prostrated by the intense heat. Being conveyed to his home medical aid was summoned but it was of no avail, death ensuing in the evening at half-past eight o'clock. Deceased was about forty-three years of age.

Thumb Amputated.—Mr. Isaac M. Wilson, a brakeman on the oil train on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, had the thumb of his right hand severely crushed while coupling cars at Buffum, Kehew & Co's oil refinery, at Johnson's station. He was removed to his home in Lawrenceville, where the thumb was amputated by Dr. Covert.

Assault and Battery.—Antone Webber appeared at Justice Heisel's office yesterday and made information charging John Marion with assault and battery. He alleges that the accused during his (the prosecutor's) absence from home beat and abused his wife. He also made a charge of disorderly conduct against Marion, who was arrested and after a hearing held to bail for his appearance at Court in both cases.

Robbing a Money Drawer.—John Robinson, a negro, was brought before Mayor Blackmore yesterday morning on a charge of larceny, preferred against him by Geo. Wamhoff. Mr. Wamhoff keeps a grocery store on the corner of Washington and Wylie streets, and he states that he caught Robinson in the act of taking two dollars and twenty-five cents from the money drawer. In default of bail the accused was committed for a further hearing.

Disorderly Conduct.—Peter Harlington was arrested yesterday, in Chancery Lane, First ward, on oath of Mary Woods, charging him with disorderly conduct. It appears that Peter was drunk and behaved himself in a very disorderly and ungentlemanly manner, for which the Mayor imposed a fine upon him of twenty-five dollars, and not having the required amount of cash to liquidate his indebtedness to the city, was sent to the hill for twenty days.

An Explanation Wanted.—If the statement of J. A. Weaver be true Louis Siegrist must have a powerful imagination or be very reckless of the truth. Weaver states that Siegrist obtained goods from him to the amount of $96,50 by representing himself as the owner of $10,000 worth of real estate in the Fifth ward, Allegheny, which it is alleged is not the case. Alderman McMasters wrote Siegrist an invitation to come to his office at his earliest convenience and explain matters.

A Threat by George—Mary Francis, residing in the Eighth ward, says that George Williams alleges that he will knock her brains out at the first convenient opportunity. Some persons might perhaps look upon this pleasant information in the light of a compliment, as it presupposes the possession of brains by the threatened party; but Mary thinks otherwise, and yesterday made an information before Alderman McMasters against George for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued.

Sudden Death.

The death of William M. Moffitt, Esq., which occurred yesterday morning, was quite unexpected and will be deeply regretted by his numerous friends and acquaintances. Mr. Moffitt, we learn, was in excellent health when he left his office Thursday evening, but was taken suddenly ill during the night and expired in the early part of the morning. The deceased was a prominent member of the bar, and was some years since Assistant District Attorney. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him, both for his superior talent and genial disposition. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Congress street, at ten o'clock this morning, and will be attended by the members of the bar in a body.

Slight Fire Yesterday.

A slight fire occurred yesterday morning at the residence of Mrs. English, No. 147 Penn street, which, but for the prompt exertions of the firemen, might have resulted very disastrously to property in that vicinity. About half past 11 o'clock the fire was discovered, and it had then gained some headway, having burned through the rafters and filled the house with smoke. An alarm was promptly sounded from box 6, corner of Penn street and Cecil alley, which brought the firemen quickly to the scene. By this time the fire had communicated to the roof of the adjoining building, occupied by Mr. Joseph Horne, but through a copious stream of water it was soon brought under control and in a short time extinguished. It is supposed to have originated from sparks falling on the roof of Mrs. English's residence, which were fanned into a flame by the slight breeze stirring at the time.

The damage was slight, consisting of the partial destruction of the roof of the rear building, and the spoiling of the carpets and bed clothing in Mrs. English's house; the loss on the building will be about $100. Dennis Leonard, Esq., is the owner.

Alleged Larceny.

Capt. Jake Hill made information before Alderman Donaldson yesterday against Wm. Richards and —— Wright, charging them with larceny. It seems that the Captain had men engaged in taking out a lot of pig iron from a flat boat which was sunk near the Hand street bridge, and it is alleged that while the men were absent from their work the defendants brought a boat and took away a load of the iron. The operation was noticed by some one on the shore, who called to them to stop, but they gave no attention to the summons and proceeded on their way down the river. Richards was arrested and gave bail for a further hearing in the sum of $300. Wright is still at large.

Unclaimed Freight at Auction.—Saturday morning at ten o'clock, at the warehouse of White, Bros. & Co., No. 7 Second street, will be sold for account of Pennsylvania Railroad, a large lot of unclaimed Freight and Goods. Also, four Drays, complete and in good condition. Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, Auctioneers.

Died at the Union Depot—Coroner's Inquest

Yesteraay morning about three o'clock Mrs. Sarah M. Allen, from Philadelphia, died at the Union Depot of apoplexy. Deceased, in company with her husband and son, a lad of ten years, were passengers on the amigrant train which arrived from Philadelphia on Thursday evening at 11:40. She complained to her husband during the trip of an excessive headache, and drank iced water continuously. On her arrival in the city the pain in her head was more acute, but still she was able to walk. After changing cars for the west, en route for Lexington, Kentucky, the husband remaining, in the car, she went out beyond the depot towards the Grain Elevator. The son accompained her, when, as he states, she fell down suddenly in the vicinity of the Pan Handle track. The attention of the father was directed to the occurrence by the lad, but before his arrival she had been picked up by two brakemen on the Pan Handle road and placed upon a truck. Officers Woolbridge and Cupples who were on duty in the vicinity at the time, were called and officer Cupples immediately went for Dr. Rahauser who arrived in a few moments afterward, but the woman had expired some minutes previous. Coroner Clawson held an inquest, when in accordance with the physician's testimony the jury found that the deceased came to her death from congestion of the brain, superinduced by excessive heat and the use of ice water.

The Cresson House.

It will be gratifying to many of our citizens who are anxious to leave the city during the heated term, to know that they can be accommodated at the Cresson House, on the Allegheny mountains, which is one of the most delightful summer resorts in the United States. The impression that this establishment was crowded with guests having gone abroad early in the season, has doubtless prevented many from going there. We were favored with a visit from Mr. G. W. Mullin, the gentlemanly and corteous proprietor of the Cresson House last evening, and he informs us that although there are quite a number of guests there, among whom are Gen. N. L. Anderson and family, Mrs. Lincoln and son, Gen. Kaufman and family, and others of equal notoriety, owing to additional improvements he is prepared to accommodate quite a number more. Many persons in the city will doubtless profit by this piece of information and engage quarters there immediately.

The Musical Album.

A new book to be published by Wm. J. Mackey & Co., has been exhibited to us by the publisher. It is bound handsomely in Turkey morocco, full gilt sides and edges, and contains twenty pieces of the latest music. The work is worth $5,00, but in order to insure a very large circulation they propose to sell it at the very low price of $1,00 per copy. It is not bound in library style, but adapted to the drawing room. Three thousand copies are to be circulated by the middle of September, and our prominent business men would do well to have their cards inserted, which can be done at a reasonable rate. We regard it as one of the most permanent advertising mediums of the day. All who desire to subscribe can call on the publishers, at Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland's, 55 and 57 Fifth street, and obtain all necessary information. Success to the new enterprise.

Closing Out Sale.

The bargains offered are fairly wonderful, and people have become convinced of the fact. The immense stock of goods is being sold off at whatever sacrifice. It has been determined to get rid of the whole assortment in the shortest possible space of time, and the prices have been reduced to a wonderful degree. This is, as we have said, a clearance sale. There is to be no reserve, and the stock is not to be replaced by another similar one. In consequence of some misunderstanding about the running of an excursion train, the sale of building lots in the Nineteenth ward, which was to have taken place Thursday, the 16th inst., was adjourned until Thursday, July 23d, at ten o'clock A. M., at which time seventy-four valuable building lots, forty-eight feet front by one hundred feet in depth, will be sold. We know of no better investment at present than is presented in the sale of this property. It is situated on the line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, at Haight's run, within a few minutes walk of the terminus of the Citizens' Passenger Railway, in a delightful locality, which is rapidly improving. The Toilet Preparations of the same house stand, we are assured, equally high.—Montreal Witness. TTSW

A Slight Obstruction.—Travel over the St. Clair street Bridge was obstructed for a short time, yesterday, by the breaking down of a two horse wagon. The driver seemed to take the accident in a philosophical way. After viewing it for a few minutes he went vigorously to work unloading and soon had all trace of the affair removed.

The grocery store of Messrs. M'Bride & George, No. 164 Federal street, Allegheny, is the original "Diamond Front." The proprietors make it a rule to keep constantly on hand a large and well selected stock of fresh groceries—fresh, we say, because the immense patronage this house receives prevents the possibility of goods becoming stale on their hands—and a full supply of provisions, which they will sell at the most reasonable prices. The patrons of this house may rely on getting what they pay for, and that they will always find the best the market affords.

We call the attention of our readers, especially those desirous of investing in coal property, to the advertisement of the sale of the Jacob Linhart farm in Baldwin township. The property contains one hundred and fifty-five acres, is extremely valuable and is one of the best coal farms in the market. It was offered on the 14th inst. and adjourned to the 21st inst. after $60,000 had been bid for it. If it can be bought for anything like that figure we believe the purchaser will have secured a most profitable bargain. TS
